

INSTITUTE OF CHEMICAL TECHNOLOGY

(University under Section - 3 of UGC Act 1956) (formerly UDCT/UICT, Mumbai)
Elite Status and Centre of Excellence- Govt. of Maharashtra
NBA Accredited; 'A' Grade by MHRD; UNIVERSITY PAR EXCELLENCE
Matunga, Mumbai - 400019, India

SECOND YEAR BACHELOR OF TECHNOLOGY (SEM - III) EXAMINATION NOVEMBER 2024 MGT1101 - ORGANIZATIONAL BEHAVIOUR

DATE : NOVEMBER 19, 2024
DAY : TUESDAY

TIME : 2.00 P.M TO 4.00 P.M
MARKS : 50

Instructions

Read instructions given for each question/sub question carefully
Ignore the CO table while reading the question

Q1. Caselet

(14 Marks)

Question	Marks	CO	KL
1	14	6	1-3

Read the caselet carefully and answer the questions given below

Aisha is a 23-year-old engineering student at a well-known university. She is currently in her third year and has always been a hardworking student. However, this semester, she has been feeling overwhelmed by everything going on in her life. Her days are a blur of lectures, assignments, work, and phone calls from her family. Here's a snapshot of what's been happening in her life recently:

Aisha's tuition fees are high, and while she has a partial scholarship, it only covers a portion of the costs. She still has to pay for books, food, rent, and other essentials. To make ends meet, she has taken a part-time job at a local café, working evenings and weekends. Despite her best efforts, her finances feel stretched, and she is constantly worried about not being able to cover all her expenses.

On top of this, Aisha's laptop broke down last week. She can't afford to repair or replace it, and this is making it even harder to keep up with her assignments. She's been using a borrowed laptop, but it's not ideal for the amount of work she needs to do. The lack of a functioning laptop adds to her mounting sense of frustration.

Lately, Aisha has been feeling drained both physically and mentally. The constant juggling of assignments, lectures, and her job has left her with little time to rest. She struggles to concentrate in class and often finds herself staying up late to finish assignments. Even after long nights of studying, she finds it hard to perform well on tests, which makes her anxious about her grades.

Her academic performance has been slipping. She used to be a top student, but now, she is worried she's falling behind. Aisha feels like she's not meeting her own expectations or the expectations her parents have set for her. Her family calls regularly, asking how she's doing, and while she loves them, their constant concern only makes her feel more stressed.

D.T.O

Aisha has been in a long-distance relationship with her boyfriend, Sameer, for over two years. They live in different cities, and while they try to stay connected through phone calls and texts, it's been difficult recently. Sameer feels like he's not a priority in Aisha's life, especially with all the demands on her time. He often complains that she's too busy to talk or make time for him. Aisha feels torn, as she wants to support him but also has to focus on her studies and job.

They have started to argue more, and Aisha feels guilty about not giving Sameer enough attention. Sometimes, she wonders if their relationship will survive the distance and all the pressures in her life. She worries that the lack of communication will eventually lead to misunderstandings or even a breakup.

Aisha also feels isolated from her friends. Her workload has increased, and she rarely has time to hang out or relax. When she does have a moment, she feels too exhausted to do anything other than sleep or study. Even when she talks to her friends, it feels like she can't connect with them the way she used to.

The constant pressure to perform well academically, meet her family's expectations, maintain her relationship, and balance her finances has created a feeling of overwhelming stress. Aisha is struggling to find balance and wondering how much longer she can keep going like this

Caselet question: (9 marks)

Identify the different stressors in Aisha's life, and classify them as financial, emotional, or relational. Mention the sentences that represent each type of stressor (3 of each type).

Caselet reflection: (5 marks)

What coping strategies could Aisha use to manage her financial, emotional, and relational stressors. List any five strategies that you feel would help her cope with the stress

Q2. Do as directed (16Marks)

A. Match the column (only write the matched answers .for e.g. 1-X) (5M)

Question	Marks	CO	KL
2A	5	1,5	1-2

	Column1		Column2
1	"I enjoy spending time with a few close friends rather than going to big parties."	A	nPOW
2	"Establish clear company policies and procedures to avoid confusion and frustration among employees."	B	Id

3	"I trust my team to handle tasks without needing constant supervision." F	C	Hygiene factor
4	"I like taking the lead on projects and making important decisions." A	D	Ego
5	"I want it now!" B	E	Introversion
		F	Motivator
		G	Theory X

(5M)

B. Fill the blanks with the correct word/s

Question	Marks	CO	KL
2B	5	1,2,4	1-2

- The unconscious strategies used by the ego to reduce anxiety and protect the individual : _____
- The realistic component that mediates between the demands of the id, the superego, and reality: Ego _____
- Being goal oriented and responsible is _____ trait of the Big Five
- Being sociable, talkative, and energetic is the _____ trait of the Big Five
- Enjoying trying new things, such as food, hobbies, projects or travel is the _____ trait of the Big Five

(6M)

C. Say true or false with justification.

Question	Marks	CO	KL
2C	6	3,4	1-3

(Note that there will be No marks credited if the answer is correct but the accompanying justification is wrong)

- Behavior in the ABC model refers to the beliefs or thoughts an individual holds about an attitude object. True Adp
- In the ABC model, Cognition involves the emotional responses and evaluations that are linked to an attitude object. False B
- The Affective component of an attitude refers to how a person thinks about an attitude object. False Cog

(10Marks)

Q3. Case analysis

Question	Marks	CO	KL
3	10	5	1-3

Answer the question/s that follow the case. Both the questions carry equal marks

S = J

Sarah and John work at a marketing agency. Both are senior managers in the same department, with similar years of experience and expertise. Over the past year, Sarah has taken on a larger share of the team's leadership responsibilities, often working late to meet deadlines and handling several important client accounts. John, on the other hand, works at a steady pace but has not taken on as many challenging tasks or leadership roles. Both Sarah and John have similar base salaries and receive the same benefits from the company.

Recently, Sarah noticed that John had been ^{→ -ve 0}receiving more recognition during team meetings and was given a new high-profile client account. In contrast, despite her extra work, Sarah had not received similar recognition or any additional responsibilities. Sarah begins to feel frustrated and demotivated, questioning why her efforts are not being acknowledged. She starts comparing her situation to John's, thinking that John may be receiving better treatment for doing less work.

- 1. Use the Adam's equity theory and explain Sarah's situation by showing the (Output/Input) ratio inequity.
- 2. If you were Sarah, how would you equalise the situation?

Q4. Arrange the following five statements (A-E) on the Maslow's hierarchy of needs with justification (5Marks)

(Kindly note that there will be No credit awarded if the posting of taglines is correct but the explanation is not correct)

Question	Marks	CO	KL
4	5	1,3,4,5	1-2

- A. "Share the Moments that Matter." → self-actualization
- B. "Feel Confident. Look Your Best." → esteem
- C. "Unlock Your True Potential." → self-actualization
- D. "From Nature's Source to Your Thirst." → esteem
- E. "Your Safety, Our Priority." → safety

Q5. Write 5 sentences on the any one and only one of the following (Kindly ensure you do not exceed 5 sentences. (5Marks)

Question	Marks	CO	KL
5	5	1-5	1-2

- 1. Procrastination as a time abuse mechanism
- 2. Your learnings from the movie: "The pursuit of Happyness"
- 3. Characteristics of a person high on Neuroticism in the Big Five
- 4. Lens of power in impression management
- 5. Perception affecting judgemental behaviour

As a procrastinator I ~~myself~~ know how things ~~take~~ go south
As the deadline approaches, I get more & more stressed about the work
But miraculously, every time I manage to get all of the due in time
Maybe that's one of the reason I'm still continuing it
After submitting submission there ~~this~~ has always this feeling of if that more time I would've done better.

28

INSTITUTE OF CHEMICAL TECHNOLOGY
MID SEMESTER EXAMINATION
MDM MANAGEMENT MINOR
ORGANIZATIONAL BEHAVIOUR-MGT1101
TOTAL MARKS: 30
TIME: 1 HOUR
DATE: 31ST AUGUST 2024

Instructions

Legible handwriting is expected
Cancellations of option or answers shall be clear with no ambiguity
Use of stationery material for model drawing is advised
There are in total 4 major questions
The CO may be ignored while reading the questions

Q1. Draw a neat labelled diagram of a complete Johari Window(CO1)

10 Marks

Q2. Choose the correct option and justify the choice. (CO1)

5Marks

(Note: if the justification is wrong/there is no justification, the student will NOT get credits even if the option is correct)

A. Perception is purely a sensory process where the brain simply records information from the environment.

1. True
2. False

B. During the License Raj, customers had a wide range of product choices due to the abundance of market competition.

1. True
2. False

Q3. Introspection (CO1, CO4, CO2)

5 Marks

Explain a situation where your attitude alignment was strong (affect, behaviour, and cognition all align) and you made a decision

OR

Explain a situation where your attitude alignment was not strong and yet you made a decision

While explaining ensure you bring in your perceptions, personality characteristics and any other aspect you feel relevant to mention

(Note: Mention in the beginning of the answer : Aligned or NOT aligned depending on which question you choose to answer)

Q4. Match the columns(write only the matching answers eg 1-X) (CO1,CO2,CO4)

10Marks

Sr No	Column1	Sr No	Column2
1	Meera enjoys trying new activities and exploring different ideas. She is high on _____	A	Backward integration
2	Reverse innovation	B	Extraversion
3	Micro environment	C	Economic Raj
4	Minal loves being around people and feels energized by social interactions. She is high on _____	D	License Raj
5	A in ABC model of attitudes refers to _____	E	Competitors
6	Law of the land	F	Openness to experience
7	Mini often feels anxious or worried about things, even if they are not serious and tries her level best to emotionally manipulate others to abide by her wishes. She is low on _____	G	Forward integration
8	Billu has a bakery purchasing a wheat farm to supply its own flour, instead of buying it from an external supplier. This is an example of _____	H	Innovation is first developed in developing countries
9	Extensive business control over business activities was a characteristic feature of _____	I	Neuroticism
10	Viraj owns a manufacturing company which is opening its own retail stores to sell its products directly to consumers, instead of relying on third-party retailers. This is typically _____	J	Emotional stability
		K	Micro environment
		L	Affect
		M	Macro environment
		N	Innovation is first developed in developed countries
		O	Affiliation